WHEREAS, Our preeminent researcher and caption expert par excellence was born September 25, 1902, in Franklin, Texas, the daughter of a country doctor; and

WHEREAS, Life was peaceful in this sleepy little hamlet, and Mrs. Stumberg recalls the childhood pleasure of waiting for the train to pass through town; and

WHEREAS, After teaching for several years in a one-room schoolhouse, Mrs. Stumberg picked up the gauntlet flung down by a male friend and entered The University of Texas Law School to prove that she could do it—and do it she did; and

WHEREAS, One of three female students in her law school class, Ione Steele was a standout, particularly in the eyes of her professor and future husband, George Stumberg; and

WHEREAS, Mrs. Stumberg braved the taunts of often hostile male classmates and professors to finish law school in 1937 summa cum laude while maintaining a gracious home for Professor Stumberg and his two daughters, Lucette and Marilyn; and

WHEREAS, Life at 1201 Gaston Avenue became doubly rewarding with the birth of a beautiful baby girl named Martha Mell in 1939; and

WHEREAS, When Professor Stumberg, at the age of 50, volunteered for duty in North Africa during World War II, Mrs. Stumberg kept the home fires burning, raising her children and niece, Janie, and nephew, Bruce, while working at the Capitol Law Library; and

WHEREAS, During the 1940s and 1950s Mrs. Stumberg earned considerable repute for her researching and editing of Professor Stumberg's legal treatises; after his death, the Attorney General's Office was the fortunate recipient of her diligence and exactitude as she researched and prepared the first index of all past Attorney General Opinions; and

WHEREAS, An unforgettable sight on Austin streets and at Jim O'Connor's Service Station was Mrs. Stumberg behind the wheel of her beloved blue Mercedes, before she admitted defeat and traded in this mechanical headache; and

WHEREAS, The Senate of the State of Texas gained an immeasurable asset with the employment of Mrs. Stumberg in January of 1971; her research reports became well known for their perception and great clarity of thought; after attaining her present status as legal counsel in the Engrossing and Enrolling Department, Mrs. Stumberg has salvaged many a bill through discovery of egregious errors and potential constitutional quicksand; and

WHEREAS, Her bumper stickers having been a virtual litany of lost causes and campaigns, our favorite in-house liberal now eschews this form of political participation for fear of jinxing her favored candidates; and

WHEREAS, Not content to let her brilliant mind lie fallow, Mrs. Stumberg works at a pace that shames the rest of us; she has often been known to actively seek out projects throughout the building; and

WHEREAS, The proverbial proud grandmother, Mrs. Stumberg has amused us all with warm anecdotes about Susan, Kathryn Riely, Margaret Stumberg, and James Edmunds, whom we feel we know through her loving eyes; now, therefore, be it

RESOLVED, That the Senate of the State of Texas, 67th Legislature, 3rd Called Session, hereby extend our Mrs. Stumberg warm, happy birthday greetings with many happy returns with a wish for an extra special September 25; and, be it further
